Process

1. The Goal of Activity In this section, the author tries to explain what will be made or achieved through a series of steps that will be explained in the next paragraph so that the reader does not misunderstand what is being discussed.
2. Any Material Needed for Procedure After the reader knows something what will be made or achieved, then the author presents material or materials that must be prepared or needed so that something can be achieved properly. So make sure all materials or materials are complete before starting to make it.
3. Steps to Achieve the goal If the materials or materials needed are complete, then the author tells me the steps that must be carried out in a coherent or sequential manner. So in this section the author must explain it in sequence and may not jump.
4. Conclusion Conclusions that contain the final results of what has been done in accordance with the steps that have been determined.
