Introduction

We celebrate Andalusia Day on 28th February. In 1980 the Andalusian people voted "yes" to their autonomic government, in a historical Referendum. Nowadays Andalusia has a high level of self-government, like other historic Spanish regions.

We propose a crossword where pupils have to answer clues about details of Andalusian culture: food, history, geography, folklore, etc.

This didactic proposal is a project where we have joined a family of webquests about school D-Days which are included in the School Curriculum of Andalusia (Spain). These activities have been designed for the sixth course of Primary Education. We aim to connect English with the celebration of D-Days, using the ITC. The use of new technologies to obtain information and to widen knowledge via Internet is the key for pupils' academic and personal development.
